

New Physician Joins Sioux Center Medical Clinic

Dr. Jason Koelewyn joins the Sioux Center Medical Clinic. Dr. Koelewyn graduated from Dordt College in Sioux Center, Iowa. He earned his medical degree from Loma Linda University in California and completed his residency in Sioux Falls Center for Family Medicine.

He became familiar with the communities in the area while attending Dordt College, and he has family ties to the area. "I am very familiar with the northwest Iowa area and with the values of its people," says Dr. Koelewyn. "Plus, I know there are great doctors here who will be awesome colleagues."

The hospital's maintenance staff has been taking down walls and creating new patient rooms in preparation for his arrival at the medical clinic.

"Our patients have been very understanding about the commotion going on in the clinic these last few weeks," says Mary McClung, Medical Clinic Director. "Several of our physicians have moved within the clinic to make room."

Doctors Jongewaard, Rayborn and Andersen have all moved to new pods. Patients can check with the reception staff in the front lobby to find the physician's new locations within the clinic.
